Working hard for you

New Business Start Up

Whatever your concept, ideas or dreams of a successful business, they must start off on the right foundations.

There are so many things you need to take advice on to enable you to make informed decisions, and these can play a pivotal role in your business as it develops. Getting it wrong can have both financial impacts and consume your time and efforts which would be best used elsewhere.

WORKING HARD FOR YOU

Sue Matthews has been assisting New Business Start Up's for over 30 years, we understand what is important, what you need to consider, we can also signpost you to other experts if needed. Our Free Consultation allows you to ask us all the questions you may have at the outset, however it also allows us the opportunity to get to know you and your business, then that we can begin to see what is right for you.

New Venture Gets the Exact Advice it Needs

About Cosanta Care Consultancy

James Clarke knew he had always wanted to run his own company. He felt he had developed the requisite skills needed to deliver a successful business. With over 25 years' experience within Social Care both as a practitioner and a senior manager with a reputation for innovation and effective change management in several large organisations he also felt that the time was right to strike out on his own.

COSANTA Care Consultancy Ltd

So in 2014 knowing that the time was right Cosanta was ready to be launched. The business provides a consultancy and support service for both Local Authorities and private companies that are involved in social care for children and families. The services offered involve all aspects of Social Services but primarily involve developing and driving improvement plans within the areas of Fostering, Adoption Residential Child Care and Child Protection.

The Services we Provide

Following extensive research and planning James was ready to progress to the next phase of his plan. Sue Matthews & Co. was actually recommended to him, however, after contacting other Accountants and then speaking with Sue he soon felt comfortable and confident with the advice he heard.

During the initial free consultation both parties obtained a clear understanding of what was needed to progress the concept into a business. Understanding what is best for the client and providing clear and concise information and advice allowed James to make the decisions required at that time.

Sue Matthews and the team understand the issues facing a Start Up and the many things that need to be thought of, both at the early stages and throughout the initial period. Ongoing support with a friendly and helpful team that knows both the business and the individual(s) is highly valued. James also included his wife in some of the discussion with Sue as the decision to 'go along' often involves the family unit.

The advice provided to James included company structure options, VAT requirements and options and advice and guidance on TAX. We also discussed general bookkeeping that would facilitate management accounts and year-end accounts to be done.

Clients Comments

Deciding to start up on your own certainly does present challenges, although after speaking with Sue we very quickly realised that we were in safe hands. During the entire process we found the advice invaluable, all options were explained to us and everything was carried out in a professional manner but with a personal touch.

We would certainly recommend Sue Matthews to anyone even considering a Start Up, the advice we received was excellent.
